Weekly Reflection

Have you ever thought about your relationship with God? Is He a strict parent or a patient friend; is He a familiar God who you have come to know or is he distant and unapproachable? Do you find Him in prayer or is he elusive and difficult to communicate with? Is your God complex and mysterious or simple and loving? Faith, I believe, depends on relationships; unless we have a relationship with Jesus how can we believe in Him? Life is the journey through our relationship with God, sometimes he is close, sometimes he seems far away; one thing is sure He is always "there" for you.

Elijah lived a life full of ups and downs, he lived through famine and feast, he was respected and shunned; if anyone needed a close relationship with God then it was Elijah. Today we are given a glimpse of that relationship in the passage from Kings. For those who seek a mighty forbidding God, the wind, the earthquake, and the fire are places to look but for those who know God then the quiet gentle breeze is the sign of his loving presence. When you think about it those who we feel are close to him are gentle and kind, a real reflection of a loving God.

I feel for Paul; he has found his God in the figure of Christ but by believing in Him he feels he has lost the Jewish faith which has nourished and guided him all his life. He has a choice to make and he chooses Jesus. Now he reflects on God's chosen people, he senses that they are moving on a different path and he is helpless, he cannot find a way to reconcile them to a crucified Christ. The Catholic Church has, in recent times, moved slowly and prayerfully towards reconciliation with the Jewish people. There are still many obstacles to overcome but the days of blind prejudice are, I pray, behind us now. Paul, I believe, would be the first to welcome this change of heart.

Does your God walk on water? Sometimes we expect Jesus to be a superman with whom everything is possible. To a certain extent this is true, we cannot put boundaries on his power, but He can do nothing unless we believe in Him. Today's Gospel speaks to me of the fragile faith we have in Jesus. When all is good, He walks on water; when things turn bad, there we are in the water, drowning in our lack of faith. Like Peter, we need to believe that whatever life throws at us he is waiting by the side of the boat with a life belt. David Frank

Caritas - Diocese of Salford

Caritas is appealing for donations of IT equipment such as old laptops, tablets and smartphones which will help its Refugee Response Service to continue offering English lessons and provide vital communication tools for those it supports.

The Coronavirus pandemic has meant that all of the conversational English classes run by Caritas Salford - which are vital for reducing isolation experienced among refugees - are now delivered virtually.

Technology is an increasingly essential tool which helps refugees to both learn English and communicate with family members around the world.

Caritas Salford's Director, Mark Wiggin, said: "Obviously there's a great demand nationally for technology, but particularly with refugees there's a huge demand and also because we've now switched a lot of our classes to virtual ones.

Explaining the benefits of using IT he added: "The main benefit is the way it can be used is to teach conversational English.

"We've been bringing our volunteers together to teach different topics and it builds friendships, just the discussion of normal things."

Act of Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from You. Amen.
